

DELIVERING EXCEPTIONAL RESEARCH.

Without quality researchers, there can be no quality research.

This is why the University of Hull is investing around £3million into PhD scholarships and postdoctoral research positions to attract the best academic talent and further our research endeavours.

We have specific opportunities in areas as diverse as wound care development; the evolution of parental care in animals; approaches to big data; contemporary slavery; and the impact of exercise on cardiovascular health – among others.

If you know anyone who has the required drive and passion, who are looking for the opportunity to make an impact in the research areas listed, we'd like to hear from them. Please help us spread the word by forwarding on this email.

Visit www.hull.ac.uk/phd for a full breakdown of available opportunities and find out what you need to apply - the closing date for applications is 13 March.
